Salmon Festival Sponsors

In December of 2012, fall-run Chinook salmon returned in significant numbers to the lower reaches of Putah Creek. The salmon could be seen spawning right near Winters Putah Creek Park and even the car bridge. The return of salmon may be attributed to the combined efforts of the annual removal of the Los Rios check dam and flash boards, pulse flows from the Putah Diversion Dam, and enhancement of the riparian and spawning areas within Putah Creek. These efforts are the work of the City of Winters, Lower Putah Creek Coordinating Committee, Putah Creek Council, Solano County Water Agency, Winters Putah Creek Committee, landowners, volunteers, and many more. The Winters Salmon Festival celebrates the return of salmon and our community's effort by coming together for great food, entertainment, education, and all-things salmon!
